Remains of two blacks found in canal

by Alma Henry

BELLE GLADE - Dr. Yasar Iscan, a Florida Atlantic University anthropologist confirmed Tuesday that the remains of two people found in a 1971 Cadillac in the Hillsboro Canal Friday, July 10 belong to a black man and woman.

The 1971 Cadillac was found by a passerby who saw the sun shining on the rear bumper just below the surface of the Hillsboro Canal, just east of the Fifth Street Bridge and Glades Central Community School.

As of Wednesday morning the Belle Glade Police Department still did not have any positive identification of the two bodies other than they were a black male and female.

When the car was pulled from the canal by Racy Parrish's wrecker service, it was covered with mud and algae and apparently had been in the canal for some time.

After the car was pulled from the water, it was discovered two bodies were in the Cadillac.

Department said the car did not have a license plate attached to it but the plate was found inside the car and it was traced and the owner was later found.

There is a possibility that the bodies could be that of a Haitian man and woman who borrowed the car to go a May Day dance.

Police are trying to locate medical information and relatives of the two Haitians to help in the identification.

City election race begins Friday

Tomorrow at 8 a.m. is the time and six potential candidates seem ready. The qualifying period for the Sept. 15 city election begins tomorrow and ends Aug. 26. Contests are shaping up in all three districts, as incumbents apparently will have at least a competitor apiece.

Commissioner Dorothy Walker and potential challenger Iz Nachman, both from the East Borough, each picked up packets at City Hall.

In the west, incumbent Randy Davidson and Bill Gandy got packets, and in the north, independent Claude Tindall and Aubrey Farmer picked up packets.

PHA residents must remove structures

PAHOKEE - Persons living in housing units operated by the Paahokee Housing Authority, Inc., have until August 2 to voluntarily remove all fences, barricades, dog houses and other structures constructed on property of the authority.

Randy Mills, executive director of the housing authority, said the Paahokee authority was notified by the authority insurance carrier and by the Department of Housing and Urban Development that the structures needed removing.

Mills said the action was ordered because of possible injuries to tenants and children living in Fremd Village, Padgett Island, McClure Village and Stucky Homes.

Mills said a letter regarding the matter was sent to all tenants on July 1, and most tenants have cooperated. "Eleven truck loads of construction materials have been removed from the projects," said Mills.

Mills said after Aug. 2, the authority maintenance crews will go in and remove all structures and fences not removed by the tenants.

Mills said the authority regrets this action being necessary, but, in complying with HUD requirements and the insurance carrier the authority will be doing its part in eliminating unsafe and hazardous conditions in the grounds and common areas of the projects.

In addition to the removal of fences, Mills said tenants, with the assistance of 23 summer youth employment workers, are working daily on the improvements of the physical appearances of the yards and streets of the four projects.

"Last week, the projects were in the best physical appearance than they have been in a long time," said Mills.

"The group of young people working with the housing authority this summer are taking pride in their jobs and the tenants are pitching in too," Mills added.

Mrs. Ethel Barnes, president of the Paahokee Tenant Organization said the organization is planning a Beautification Contest on July 24.

Mrs. Barnes said two residents in each project will receive an award. She said awards will be given to the cleanest yard and the prettiest yard.

At the present, Mrs. Barnes said, she does not have judges for the contest but hopes to get several members of the Paahokee Beautification Committee to serve as judges.

Mead Maxwell, chairman of the Board of Directors said, he is happy to see the tenant organization was encouraging the tenants to have "pride in keeping their yards up."

Mrs. Barnes also told the board, the annual Senior Citizens Picnic will be held Aug. 1 at Hardin Park.

She said transportation will be provided by the "Last year we gave the award to the oldest resident, this year it goes to the next oldest," Barnes said.

Belle Glade commissioners consider water and sewer hikes

By Scott Ellis

Water rate increases of more than 95 percent and sewer rate increases of about 30 percent were discussed at Monday night's Belle Glade City Commission meeting.

A Riviera Beach consulting engineering firm (Briley, Wild and Associates) reluctantly painted an expensive future for the city's water improvement plans. The firm and the commission concluded that in order to have planned new water system improvements, rate hikes of 60-95 percent must be contemplated.

"You're due for a water rate increase with or without the proposed project," James Seneff, Briley representative told the commission. Seneff's firm was retained by Belle Glade to do a cost-analysis of the proposed water system improvements, which have been on the city's drawing boards for several months.

Seneff said recent higher interest rates were a major factor in his firm's recommendation for 95 percent water rate hikes.

Averaging Briley's sewer and water rate hike recommendations, the firm said the city should raise its combined water and sewer rates for most residential users 42 percent by October, and 65 percent by 1984. A minimum 80 percent water rate hike and 20 percent sewer hike was also recommended by Seneff, along

Stillwell Road residents fight on

By Scott Ellis

Faced with an organized Stillwell Road residential group with the support of the City of Belle Glade, the South Florida Water Conservancy District (SFWCD) has pledged to review the ditch controversy that has been raging there.

At the district's meeting Tuesday afternoon, SFWCD Assistant Manager Ronnie Graden said the board would look into the Stillwell Road ditch issue again. The district is acting after receiving complaints from residents who live in the Stillwell area about the swale which turned into a ditch after dredging last month.

"We agreed to check this out... soil conservation engineers to see if any improvements can be made," Graden said. "The ditch is there for drainage for the homes and the canefield that border it."

Stillwell residents, led by spokesperson Mike Cunningham and attorney Michael Stauder, appeared at the meeting to argue their case. Cunningham lives at 1181 Stillwell Road.

"We're not a bunch of hotheads," Cunningham said after the meeting. "I think if we work together on this thing we can get this problem solved."

Cunningham was optimistic following the meeting, saying that he indeed felt there had been progress and that he thought perhaps there would be some action in his group's favor.

"We're satisfied to the extent that they will at least look into the matter," he added.

Cunningham and his fellow residents also came to Monday's Belle Glade City Commission meeting, seeking city support for their action. They received it, getting a unanimous vote of support. The city sent Clerk June Boglioli to represent it at the district's meeting Tuesday.

A group of Stillwell residents have signed a petition which states its opposition to the newly-created ditch. Before it was dredged out in June, the drainage area was no more than a 2' to 3' deep swale, posing no danger at all to residents with adjoining property.

Cloud seeding?

The feasibility of cloud seeding to bring water to parched South Florida is being considered by the South Florida Water Management (SFWM) District.

William Woodley, a federal meteorologist from Boulder, Colo., told SFWM directors meeting last week that silver iodide pellets can be fed into cumulus clouds which quick freeze the clouds, causing them to grow in size and volume. The estimated cost of the program is $500,000.

Woodley said, however, that cloud seeding is a "rain enhancement technique." There must first be clouds present to seed, he explained.

Goolsby arrested

A Miami man, Alpha T. Goolsby, was arrested twice in the same day this week for possessing marijuana.

Goolsby was arrested Monday morning for possessing more than a pound of the weed, telling police he had been smoking it for the last 15 years to treat his glaucoma.

That night, Goolsby was again arrested, this time for having a nickel bag in his shirt pocket.

Shooting investigated

Police are still investigating a shooting incident that occurred about 11:30 p.m. Saturday night in front of the Cotton Club.

Belle Glade police say that James Ford, 16, was shot in the leg in front of the SW Fifth Street club when an unidentified man standing there shot a pistol at him three times.

After being treated for cut, he got on his lower leg when he fell while running away from his assailant, he was released from Glades General Hospital. He was not hit by gunfire.

Two killed in accident

The Florida Highway Patrol Monday released the names of two persons who were killed in two-car collision Sunday night on U.S. 27 near Talisman, south of South Bay.

The patrol said Bernard Berthol and Lorine Grimes Elyson, 51, of Miami died in the two-car crash. Troopers said a northbound car driven by Luc Louis, 26, of Belle Glade, in which Berthol was a passenger, went over the center line and crashed into Elyson's car.

Walker was elected two years ago to her first term in a controversial election that was challenged by the loser, then-incumbent Kenneth Harris. Although still not out of appeals, Circuit Judge William Williams' decision (which disqualified Walker on insufficient residency requirements) has been overturned by an appeals court. Walker beat Harris by less than 50 votes.

A reporter with the Palm Beach Evening News for 17 years, he retired in May. Nachman is now a reporter for the Glades Trend. He has been beat by less than 50 votes.

with indexing future hikes to the rate of inflation. "I am unalterably opposed to tying rates to an index where they automatically go up," Mayor Tom Altman said.

But Altman and Seneff agreed that restrictive city ordinances could be changed to help facilitate easier passage of a needed bond issue to help finance the new water system. New ordinances could also help lower the recommended rate increases from more than 95 percent to about 60 percent, Altman and Seneff said. The city's bond rating is sub-standard, according to a Briley spokesman.

Commissioner Dorothy Walker spoke strongly against a 90 percent-plus water rate hike, saying there had to be an alternative. The 13 largest industrial users, such as the Glades Sugar House, should pay a fairer share of the water and sewer bills, she indicated.

City Manager Rolfe Wagner said the house took about two-sevenths of the city's total water supply, with large users taking about one-third. Altman said a city contract with the house prevented the commission from levying a surcharge to it, or any other of the large users.

Walker said if large users and small users were separated, no comparisons could logically be made between them because they would be in different classes.

City Attorney John Baker argued that it cost the city more to collect fees from 10 individual customers than it does to collect from one large user.

Altman said the issue was, unfortunately, clear-cut:

Have a rate increase or cancel the water project.

The commission gave Briley the go-ahead to proceed with next steps in the water project planning, indicating that it realized rates would have to go up considerably. New rate ordinances and a final rate study, along with public hearings are still to come.

The city commissioned its first rate study about two years ago.

In other action, the commission:

- authorized Briley to advertise for bids for a community development project for a SW Avenue F water main.

—approved a Kiwanis Club of the Glades request for a refund of the license and rental of the Civic Center in connection with a magic show. Club plans to present three more Aug. 4. The refund and the proceeds will be put into the club's general fund for distribution to local charities.

—granted permission to the Police Officers Benevolent Association to hold its annual Policeman's Ball Nov. 21 at the Elks Club.

—reappointed Benny Richmond to serve another term on the Planning and Zoning Board.

—reappointed Lois Davis and John White to serve another term on the Civil Service Board.

—voted to advise state Sen. Tom Lewis on which new proposed state legislative taxation plan it preferred.

—voted to fund the Civil Service Board, Board of Adjustment, and Planning and Zoning Board at the normal levels until the end of the present fiscal year (another two months). The latter two boards had offered to serve without pay, but the Civil Service board declined to.

—approved the city's annual advertisement in the Florida League of Cities' magazine, at a cost of $103 for a quarter-page.

—approved a West Palm Beach firm's (Nowlen, Stewart, Tedman and Holt) proposal for the city's annual audit. The firm's fee will not exceed $17,600.

—approved a previously approved $6,000 funding request for 1980-81 Revenue Sharing Funds for We Care Child Development Center, 3-1, with Commissioner Randy Davidson voting against.

—approved a consultant's looking into ways the city can still obtain the blocked Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Grant Florida Rural Legal Services helped deny it earlier this year.

—discussed obtaining and maintaining a permanent City Manager's residence. Altman said he would consider changing his opposition to it.

HRS to assist with cooling bills

The application deadline for a federally funded program designed to help low-income sick persons pay home cooling bills has been extended to July 17. Health and Rehabilitative Services officials announced.

As of June 23, only 15,000 applications had been received. Last winter checks totalling about $7 million were sent to more than 99,000 low income persons who qualified for help with heating costs. More than 126,000 persons applied for the aid. "The extension will allow more time for individuals to learn of the cooling program and to submit applications," said HRS Secretary Alvin Trower.

One-time payments based on location of the residence, number of persons residing in the household and total household income, will be made from a Low-Income Energy Assistance Program grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. About $5 million is available for the summer cooling phase of the program.

Checks will be sent to the applicant—not the power company—officials said, and payment is scheduled to begin in August. Application forms are available from any HRS office.

To be eligible a household must have at least one member with a medical condition that would be substantially worsened by heat. A physician, osteopath, or an advanced registered nurse practitioner must verify the condition. A portion of the application form is designed to be used for this purpose, and medical practitioners have been asked to cooperate.

In addition to a qualifying medical condition, the household must have income below these monthly maximums: 1 person household, $316; 2 persons, $418; 3 persons, $519; 4 persons $621; 5 persons, $723; 6 persons, $824; 7 persons, $926; 8 persons $1,028.

Brochures in English and Spanish are available and HRS has hired temporary staff to aid applicants. Appeals hearings will be available to persons who feel unfairly treated.

process. Some jewelry was recovered from the car, but no identification papers were found.

The car was found in gear with the ignition on and police believe the accident happened at night because the headlight button was pulled out.

The Belle Glade Police Department spent several hours removing bones from the car's back seat.

Detective Carney said the two may have been trying to escape through the back of the car because the impact of the car hitting the canal had folded the hood over the windshield.

Carney said the remains were put into a single bag because they were mixed up in the car.

Carney said he isn't sure whether the two people in the car are the missing Haitians.

On May 8, Jean Claude Michel was listed as missing and Jacqueline Petit Honne, was reported missing June 5. Both are believed to be Haitians and are from Belle Glade.

representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in the Glades area during the work week of July 20 through 24, Forrest P. Cawley, Jr., director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Atlanta, announced recently.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 107.4 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 99.2 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate was 7.6 percent, up from the 7.3 percent registered during the prior three months.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Interviewers who will visit households in the Glades will be Mrs. Selma Leavitt, Mrs. Lois Robinson, Mrs. Nancy Davis and Mrs. Dianne Merklein.

Constitution of the United States of America states the rights of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

The rights of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

The Congress shall have the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

These are the rights of every American citizens, but before these rights can be exercised the law also states that you must be a registered voter.

And to become a registered voter, one must either visit registration headquarters—whether it is a courthouse, county office building or any appointed place.

The Belle Glade City Commission race for the West, East and Northborough officially opened Friday, July 17, and if you want to exercise your right to vote in the September election you must be a registered voter.

Now is the time to register, not in September the day of the election. Now is the time to consider who your candidate is going to be, and how you as a registered voter will vote.

There is no use crying over spilled milk; its no use crying over the lost of your candidate for a commission seat if you didn't vote and didn't register to vote. Now is the time, register to day and take a friend along to register.

Once registered, the right to vote is undeniably yours!

Ditch water runs deep

Armed with a statement of support from the Belle Glade City Commission and probably the sympathy of the nearly the entire community, residents of the Stillwell Road area have asked the powers that be for some help.

A hazard to their safety—a 14-foot wide and 10-foot deep drainage ditch—exists along the 28-home neighborhood, the residents there say, threatening the lives of the 38 children who live there.

The ditch, which used to be a shallow swale before it was dredged by the South Florida Water Conservancy District (SFWCD), is sometimes as close as four feet from the residents' property lines. Residents say they had no advance warning about the dredging before it began in June.

Stillwell Road residents, who have said that the swale was enough more than to drain the area, don't think that large of a ditch is needed. They are asking that something be done about it before one of their children or a pet is killed in it.

Stillwell Road residents deserve some help, at least a reasonable explanation of why the ditch was enlarged. Perhaps some protective measures should be taken.

SFWCD, and agricultural landowners who have to work should not be lambasted for supposed neglect either. SFWCD has an important job to do for both large landholders and small homeowners.

In most cases, the drainage ditches that cross our region are beneficial rather than detrimental. SFWCD has done a good job of flood control and drainage, making life in Glades much more attractive than it was 20 or 30 years ago. Their function is to help our economy and lifestyle.

But as our once-isolated Glades communities continue to grow, there could be other problems such as the dangerous Stillwell Road ditch. In fact, City Attorney John Baker has said that similar situations have occurred before. Future drainage plans will have to appreciate and accommodate the steadily growing outlying areas of our towns.

Stillwell Road residents are speaking up for their rights. And it looks like they're getting some results, because the City of Belle Glade has voiced its support for their cause. Mayor Tom Altman is concerned not only with the Stillwell ditch, but with other city ditches scheduled to be dredged deeper in the same SFWCD project.

The question is whether or not the Stillwell ditch is too close and thus too dangerous for the residents who live there. The question of whether or not there should be drainage there or not is not at issue. There has always been some kind of swale or ditch there, apparently for quite some time.

And after dredging it, it may be determined that the Stillwell ditch is not much more of a danger than the other dozen or so canals, ditches and swales that lace every other Glades community.

After all, if the Stillwell ditch is dangerous, then maybe the dozens of other ditches and canals that border homesites in Belle Glade and other Glades communities are dangerous as well. And if Stillwell residents win their fight, you can bet that the other folks

The injunction was upheld as to the cost of the election, however, the judge held that if a group of local citizens wanted to bear the cost of the election, they could go ahead and hold it.

A work of art

Editor Jim Jones is on two weeks leave of absence from his journalistic chores while he is on active duty with his army reserve unit. We are reprinting one of Jim's columns this week for readers to re-enjoy.

Who in the heck do you think you are, a superstar? Well, alright, you are. Well we all shine on. Like the moon and the stars and sun.

John Lennon, "Instant Karma"

I have on my desk a drawing that my five-year-old daughter drew when she was four last December.

It's a round face on beige color paper, drawn in purple. The mouth extends in a relentless smile, creeping around the face's eyeballs.

The eyeballs are identical round circles with tiny dots in the middle and a similar circle for a nose. There are no eyelids, eyebrows or lips. And the ears are almost nonexistent.

But it is a thoroughly happy face.

Next to it is another Christine original I have, dated Aug. 21, drawn on lined paper. It shows four turtles of varying sizes, and the beginnings of a fifth which for some reason was never completed.

The tour de force of this particular work is the largest turtle, colored green and yellow with an intricate network of lines drawn on its shell.

There are also a green and orange turtle, a green and white turtle and an orange and green turtle.

All are of varying sizes, but of the same general shape and have all eyes.

Art has been an obsession with Christine since she first learned to grasp a pencil or crayon and she's gotten better all the time.

I'm not sure what she likes best, drawing or having stories read to her.

Years of bedtime stories have resulted in her being able to recite most of her books from memory.

All of this drawing and reading have resulted in a flexible and astonishing imagination.

"Do they have blue jet planes, Daddy?" she asked me the other day, interrupting me during lunch.

I told her yes, people have jet planes of just about every color, as I doled out my grilled cheese sandwich.)

I'm sure that my little girl is really no different than most of the other kids who will be entering kindergarten this fall.

But I am amazed by what a unique and powerful species human beings are. This is most evident in children.

Thank back to the last time you saw a newborn baby. The baby knew nothing, was absolutely helpless, and probably sensed nothing more than that it was hungry or wet.

And within a few years, that same little person is asking millions of questions, one after another, some of them surprisingly probing.

Some of the questions are so fundamental, in fact, that you must admit you have never really puzzled out the answers.

Being a human being is special. It's better than being born a cricket or a mullet.

Thank goodness most of us aren't Hindus in America. Because the Hindu believes in reincarnation, and the next time around — depending on the life you led — you might come back a cockroach or a Lake Okeechobee catfish.

From what I know, few of us will have to come back into the world as anything other than what we are now. At least, I've never talked to anyone who claimed to have been a Lake Okeechobee cat in a prior life.

Fortunately, everyone reading this column is a special person. All of us are special.

Next time you see a surgeon stepping out of an operating room or a wino trying to hop a freight train, think about it — we are special. We are people and there is nothing like us.

Pahokee holds off on backing tax increases

By Alma Henry

PAHOKEE — Members of the Pahokee City Council agreed to hold off on passing a resolution supporting or rejecting several tax increase proposals, Sen. Tom Lewis, asked the Council to consider.

In a letter addressed to Mayor Norma Norman, Sen. Lewis asked the Council to relay information regarding its position on the tax increases.

Council chairman, George McKinstry said he felt not enough information was given about the items listed in the letter and could not support a resolution supporting the increases.

Council George Tillis said he would like for Mayor Norman to write Lewis back requesting more information on each tax increase proposal.

The letter asked that each municipality in Lewis district respond to the letter by July 20.

"There is no way we can make a decision by Monday," said Tillis.

Mayor Norman also told the Council he had received a letter from the Department of Safety and Motor Vehicles.

Norman said C.W. Keith, director of the Division of Driver Licenses informed him the Department of General Services has issued specifications, plans and documents concerning the construction of an addition to the Pahokee Highway Patrol Station.

Norman said the addition will include a cover from the rain and the sun for visitors to the station. Norman said over the years, residents have been complaining about not have a waiting area at the station. Keith said in the letter, the completion of the construction should be within 90 days.

In other business before the Council: The Council accepted a contract with George Fowler, Inc., for the supply of 10 oxygen and acetylene tanks for the public works and utilities departments.

Approved taxi drivers license for Leroy Williams.

Heard a progress report from Building Inspector, Phelix Slonaker, that work on Rardin and Amaryllis Avenues were still under construction by the Palm Beach County Community Development Department.

Councilman Rashley said he had received several complaints from persons living in the area on the inaccessibility of the right of ways to their driveways and streets in the area.

Director of Public Works, Donnie Martin, said because of the construction, the sanitation department could not pick up garbage for several weeks in the area.

Lake Shore Supply Company, which planned to put on a 75-foot extension on the then present building.

The postal revenues of the post office of Belle Glade showed a decided increase for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, over the previous year. These figures showed that the town of Belle Glade was experiencing a definite growth at that time.

A free dance was given at Olaf Boe's new garage building on Canal Point road in Pahokee.

Marshal Harrison had undertaken to find music and G.C. Inlow was to provide some bakery products and some one else was to furnish lemons and water to make the lemonade despite the scantiness of the rainfall.

Living in similar situations will use the case as a precedent to win more protection for themselves too.

It should also be pointed out that perhaps the Canal Hazards Board, which meets each month in Belle Glade, should be consulted on this matter. They may have the authority to do something.

And it should be noted that there has been no rash of canal or ditch drownings yet.

SFWCD officials have promised that they will look into the Stillwell issue again to see what improvements can be made. I think that when it has reviewed the Stillwell residents' complaints thoroughly, SFWCD will make a just decision to alleviate the problem. Perhaps a new, comprehensive set of rules on drainage ditch and canal protection will evolve from this.

And it should be noted that there has been no rash of canal or ditch drownings yet.

And that's the way democracy is supposed to work. Let's see what happens in this case, before we throw the ditch water out with the baby.

Homestead Springs Fri. day (July 10).

After lengthy consideration of biological data and testimony from the commercial fishermen, the Commissioners voted to adopt an order extending the provisions of an emergency rule put into effect earlier in the year.

The order will prohibit the use of haul seines, trawls and the commercial harvest and sale of game fish until such time as conditions in the lake allow more liberalized regulations.

The lake is at a record low elevation resulting in a stressed fish population.

In other action, the Commissioners voted their intent to continue a requirement that waterfowl hunters use steel shot in 12 gauge shotguns in certain areas of the state during the 1981-82 season when taking waterfowl.

Lead shot will be allowed in other gauge shotguns in all areas of Florida except designated wildlife refuges.

The Commissioners are expected to consider formal adoption of the proposal into rule at their September Commission meeting.

The officials also heard an outline from the Division of Wildlife on a comprehensive proposal for the management of the American alligator population in Florida. The Commissioners approved the plan as presented and cleared the way for an experimental harvest of alligators from Orange Lake in the fall of 1981.

Division of Wildlife staff members also presented a proposal for a five-day teal and wood duck season in September, pending federal approval.

The Commissioners voted to add the headwaters of the Weeki Wachee River in Hernando County as a wildlife refuge.

The area placed under the refuge status is all of the river from the headwaters to a downstream point known as Bear Bluff, including 1,000 feet on both sides of the river.

In further action, Commissioners formally accepted a 360,000-acre of land into the Type II wildlife management area system for public use.

The Commissioners tentatively set September 4 as their next meeting date in Key West.

Why is FPL's fuel adjustment so high?

Michael C. Cook, Vice President, Fuel Resources and Corporate Development at Fort Everglades Oil Storage Facilities.

Prices have risen so much in the past few years that we now spend $4 million a day on oil.

I've heard that oil prices were dropping. Will the fuel adjustment go down as a result?

Oil prices have dropped somewhat recently, but this summer we'll be using even more oil than usual because one of our nuclear plants that generates lower-cost electricity is being repaired. During months of moderate temperatures, overall use of electricity decreases, and we burn less oil. This could mean a lower fuel adjustment. A lot will depend on the weather, the price of oil and how much generation we can get from other fuel sources.

What is FPL doing to fight high oil prices? Everything we can. We shop for bargains in the oil market, both in contract fuel supplies and in open market purchases. We're not building any more oil-powered generating facilities. And before we use the ones we have, we use all our other less-costly generating sources — nuclear, natural gas, and coal-generated power from other utilities brought into the state by transmission lines. We've also been mixing coal and oil at one plant, and we're pursuing opportunities for converting our oil plants to coal use.

Doesn't the fuel adjustment destroy the incentive to buy fuel economically? No. First of all, our own performance standards are extremely high. In addition, there are efficiency incentives built into the fuel adjustment regulatory proceedings, and FPL must prove that all fuel was bought and used wisely when its case on the fuel adjustment is presented.

Does FPL make a profit on the fuel adjustment? No. Not a cent of the fuel adjustment goes to profit. All of it goes directly to pay for the cost of fuel.

200 turn out for Bean City reunion

AMONG THE MANY RESIDENTS attending the Bean City Reunion Saturday at John Stretch Park were Mrs. Fludie Wilson, standing and Mrs. Flora Lafton, seated, the oldest resident at the reunion and a resident of the area for over 60 years.

LAKE HARBOR — Over 200 residents and former residents of Bean City gathered at John Stretch Park in Lake Harbor Saturday to celebrate the first Bean City Reunion.

The outdoor picnic, coordinated by Mrs. Janett Graham and Mrs. Cynthia G. Blake was a day of eating good food, renewing old acquaintances, playing games, baking in the sun and reminiscing about old times.

Mrs. Graham said the theme for the day was "It's Our Roots", and the activities kicked off with a parade from South Bay to Lake Harbor.

Mrs. Fludie Wilson and David Williams, long time residents of Bean City served as the parade marshals.

Mrs. Graham said once at the park, a short program was held with the Rev. Alvin Jones of South Bay serving as the speaker.

Mrs. Graham said awards were also presented to the oldest citizen, Mrs. Flora Lafton, 83 years old, who has lived in the Bean City-South Bay area for over 60 years.

Mrs. Lafton, dressed in bright pink with a matching wide brim straw hat, said she call Bean City home. "I am enjoying the fellowship with old friends today," she said.

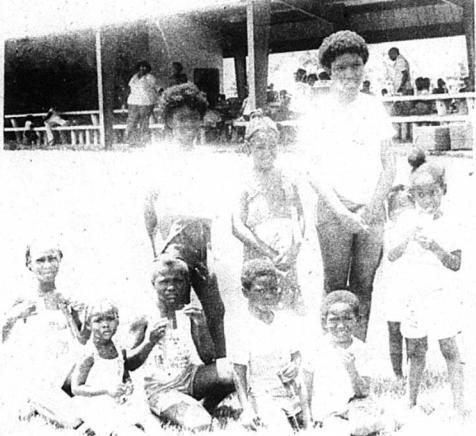

Mrs. Graham said awards were also presented to David Williams, Mrs. Delta Police, Rev. Rennick Morris, Rev. Alvin Jones, Bishop Willie Wrisper and Mrs. Fludie Wilson for their participation on the program.

Children participating in the watermelon eating contests and other games were also presented with award winning ribbons.

Mrs. Graham said the idea was conceived by a number of people and that Mrs. Jane Evans made the first donation of $100 and secured the pavilion at John Stretch Park from the county for the reunion.

"Other families living South Bay and Bean City donated $25 or more to help with the reunion," Mrs. Graham added.

Former residents of Bean City came from as far away as Kingston, Jamaica for the reunion," said Mrs. Blake.

BELLE GLADE — The Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and the Palm Beach County Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) invite the Glades community to participate in a "canned goods" collection for homebound sick persons that are unable, because of their illnesses to shop or prepare meals for themselves.

Miss LaVoie Taylor, president of the Glades Alumnae Chapter said boxes will be available throughout the community, at churches, schools, and businesses, and the sorority request the community donation of canned goods, to show concern for others by giving to those in need.

Boxes will be collected from schools and businesses on Friday, July 17. Boxes will be collected from churches at the end of morning worship services on Sunday, July 19.

A special program to formally introduce the residents of the Glades to the VNA will be held Sunday, July 19 at 3 p.m. at the St. John First Baptist Church.

"We need your canned goods and your presence on July 19", said Miss Taylor.

"It would be nice if your church, school or business would send a representative to the program to present your box of canned goods to the VNA", she added.

The VNA, a non-profit, community supported, charitable agency was incorporated in Palm Beach County in 1948.

The agency serves Palm Beach County residents with offices in West Palm Beach, Boynton Beach and Belle Glade.

VNA provides skilled services for those who are sick at home but who do not require full time professional care.

Among the many services VNA offers include:

- Injections, instruction in special diets and medications for the patient with diabetes, anemia, heart and circulatory problems, etc.

- Surgical dressings and treatment for post operative dressings and those with injuries.

- Therapeutic exercises and rehabilitative measures for patients who have a crippling disease caused by stroke or arthritis, or other debilitating disease.

- Instruction in care of the newborn, such as formula preparation and guidance for the mother in self-care before and after delivery.

- Professional assessment of health needs and home management of the homebound patient plus coordinated care through referrals to other community resources.

- Bath, shampoos and other personal care.

- Nurse specialists available for patients requiring instruction and care of colostomies, kidney dialysis, inhalation therapy and occupational rehabilitation.

The agency offers these and other services to individuals and families without regard to age, race, creed or ability to pay.

AMONG THE MANY RESIDENTS attending the Bean City Reunion Saturday at John Stretch Park were Mrs. Fludie Wilson, standing and Mrs. Flora Lafton, seated, the oldest resident at the reunion and a resident of the area for over 60 years.

LAKE HARBOR — Over 200 residents and former residents of Bean City gathered at John Stretch Park in Lake Harbor Saturday to celebrate the first Bean City Reunion.

The outdoor picnic, coordinated by Mrs. Janett Graham and Mrs. Cynthia G. Blake was a day of eating good food, renewing old acquaintances, playing games, baking in the sun and reminiscing about old times.

Mrs. Graham said the theme for the day was "It's Our Roots", and the activities kicked off with a parade from South Bay to Lake Harbor.

Mrs. Fludie Wilson and David Williams, long time residents of Bean City served as the parade marshals.

Mrs. Graham said once at the park, a short program was held with the Rev. Alvin Jones of South Bay serving as the emcee.

Mrs. Graham said awards were also presented to the oldest citizen, Mrs. Flora Lafton, 83 years old, who has lived in the Bean City-South Bay area for over 60 years.

Mrs. Lafton, dressed in bright pink with a matching wide brim straw hat, said she call Bean City home. "I am enjoying the fellowship with old friends today," she said.

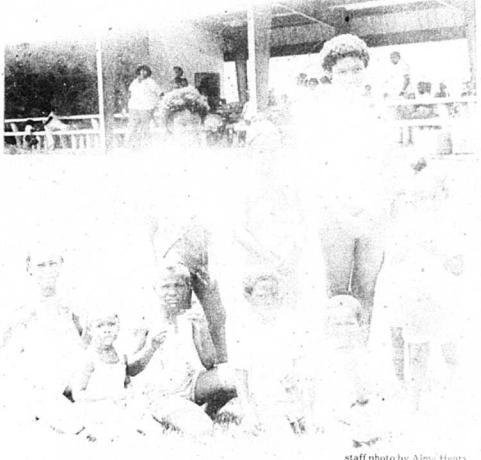

Mrs. Graham said awards were also presented to David Williams, Mrs. Della Police, Rev. Rennick Morris, Rev. Alvin Jones, Bishop Willie Wrisper and Mrs. Fludie Wilson for their participation on the program.

Children participating in the watermelon eating contests and other games were also presented with award winning ribbons.

Mrs. Graham said the idea was conceived by a number of people and that Mrs. Jane Evans made the first donation of $100 and secured the pavilion at John Stretch Park from the county for the reunion.

"Other families living South Bay and Bean City donated $25 or more to help with the reunion," Mrs. Graham added.

Former residents of Bean City came from as far away as Kingston, Jamaica for the reunion," said Mrs. Blake.

Eccles, along with several members of the fraternity were in-schedule to be held in Miami. Eccles will be honored for his years of outstanding service to the fraternity.

"Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity and is the largest service fraternity in the country," said Moore.

"It has a membership of more than 166,000 members and in excess of 618 chapters, and the state of Florida has 16 officially chartered chapters", Moore added.

Eccles, along with several members of the fraternity were instrumental in securing a charter for the Belle Glade Alumni Association in 1980.

BELLE GLADE — The Glades Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and the Palm Beach County Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) invite the Glades community to participate in a "canned goods" collection for homebound sick persons that are unable, because of their illnesses to shop or prepare meals for themselves.

Miss LaVoie Taylor, president of the Glades Alumnae Chapter said boxes will be available throughout the community, at churches, schools, and businesses, and the sorority request the community donation of canned goods, to show concern for others by giving to those in need.

Boxes will be collected from schools and businesses on Friday, July 17. Boxes will be collected from churches at the end of morning worship services on Sunday, July 19.

A special program to formally introduce the residents of the Glades to the VNA will be held Sunday, July 19 at 3 p.m. at the St. John First Baptist Church.

"We need your canned goods and your presence on July 19," said Miss Taylor.

"It would be nice if your church, school or business would send a representative to the program to present your box of canned goods to the VNA", she added.

The VNA, a non-profit, community supported, charitable agency was incorporated in Palm Beach County in 1945.

REV. JOE ED MCGAHEY

KEEPING THE FAITH

"Just as it pleased the Lord to make you prosper and increase in number, so it will please Him to ruin and destroy you." Deut. 28:63

These were the words of Moses on the eastern side of the Jordan River before he climbed Mt. Nebo to see the land where God was taking the children of Israel. Most of Deuteronomy is a recounting by Moses of God's deliverance of Israel from Egypt, the giving of the law of Sinai, and the promise of blessing for obedience and curse for disobedience. The promise of blessing or curse can be summed up in this text.

God had raised these people up as a nation unto Himself. He had (and has) some rather high expectations of them. He raised them up to be a holy people unto Himself, and holiness means obedience to the word of God. When they were obedient He blessed and protected them. When they were disobedient true to His promise. He withdrew His protection and also let natural disasters come upon them. This is not only what He said. He would do, but this is exactly what happened to them.

Now when I reflected on God's dealing with Israel, and then think about our own great nation, I feel it is time for us to do some reflecting on our state of being. What is happening in America? Or more to the point—"Is God angry with us?" He certainly has every reason to be.

Our early forefathers were certain that it was only as they trusted in God, that we could win the struggle to become a nation. The early leaders of this nation were God fearing, believing, Bible reading and praying men. No, they were not perfect. Some were not even Christians, but they were God fearing men and women. They believed and wrote it into our heritage that were a nation established "under God." This was a well established principle in our heritage as a nation. God blessed us and we became the most powerful nation in the world. We were not the largest, but we were the strongest. We developed the highest standard of living the world had ever seen. Our poor lived much better than most of the rest of the world. This is still more true than what people realize.

But what is happening now in this great nation? We are no longer the most powerful nation in the world, nor are we as great in the area of economics and material production as we once were. Look at the fact that many of our cars, cameras, sewing machines, etc. are made in foreign lands.

However, there is one disturbing thing is the natural disasters that are our whole nation. Mt. St. Helens exploded in May of 1980 with more fury than 50 atomic bombs the size of the one that fell on Hiroshima. Then there was last summers heat wave that resulted in more than 1200 deaths in 20 of our midwestern, southern and southwestern states. The damage to agriculture was in the millions and helped to inflate already rising food prices. Nor was that the end—every major food production area of the United States has been adversely affected by the weather during the past two years. Now we in this area after experiencing a severe winter have a continued lack of rain that is spelling disaster to Lake Okeechobee and raining in our area.

Nearly twenty years ago one of God's prophets said "we as a nation in a call to repentance, 'If God does not judge America soon, He will have to apologize to Sodom and Gomorrah.' Since then things have grown worse, with a wave of homosexuality, pornography, immorality, abortion and violence. The acceptance of these sins is our own worst sin. Scripture teaches us that 'God has absolute standards—'Righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a disgrace to any people.' Proverbs 14:34

What is it going to take to bring our nation to repentance? How much more time is Almighty God going to give us? I have by no means listed all of the natural disasters that have already come upon us in two years, nor all the economic troubles of our nation. Things can get worse—and unless as a nation there is some repenting and turning around—I believe things will get worse.

Medflies hit California

TALLAHASSEE — Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner has told California Governor Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown that Florida "will have no alternative" than to severely limit imports of fruit and vegetables from California unless an outbreak of Mediterranean fruit fly is eradicated.

In a telegram to Gov. Brown and Richard E. Rominger, director of the California Department of Food and Agriculture, Conner said Florida has patiently observed California's efforts to curb the Medfly using fruit-stripping, ground-spraying and release of sterile male Medflies. Results looked encouraging and success of the program was predicted until the summer weather brought out a batch of Medflies outside of the federally-controlled area around San Jose.

Conner said unless California and the U.S. Department of Agriculture take effective action quickly, the fruit and vegetable industries of every southern state will be endangered by a potential spread of the destructive pest.

"Florida agricultural interests are becoming more concerned each day as reports reach us of increasing discoveries of larvae of the Medfly outside the original area of infestation," Conner said. "This indicates a new generation of fruit flies will emerge shortly to continue the cycle, increasing the danger of the fly spreading beyond the California border."

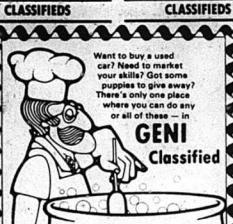

Conner urged Brown to adopt recommendations made by the USDA to the California Medfly Technical Committee Tuesday. This called for aerial application of pesticides to kill the adult breeding flies. Environmental groups and municipal authorities in the infested area have opposed aerial spraying.

If Gov. Brown will not adopt the federal recommendations, Conner suggested alternatively that the entire state of California be placed under federal quarantine, and not just the known infested area, to preclude shipment of host fruit and vegetables which might carry the fly. Shipments could continue after proper fumigation or other treatment, Conner said.

If Gov. Brown does not approve aerial spraying, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture does not apply and enforce a federal statewide quarantine, then the state of Florida "will have no alternative to implement restrictions to protect Florida from infestation originating in California," Conner said in his message to Brown.

Conner recalled that he had withheld action on a proposal to restrict shipments from California after a full-dress hearing in January on a promise from Rominger that California "would 'eradicate the fly no matter what it takes to do the job."

Alpha program teaches dance

by Dr. David T. Evans

The record player is amplifying the theme from "Shaft" until it almost fills the room. Ten eighth graders are beautifully keeping time to the thumping music. The scene is not of a disco or a party but the Summer Alpha Program "Effectiveness Education" under the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic. The counselor Rosalyn Angram is teaching creative modern dance.

This program is a follow-up of the three eleven week programs which the Alpha staff have just concluded at Belle Glade Elementary School last year. A total of 66 were involved in the workshop.

Tuesday through Friday, Ms. Angram (Dance Choreographer), Ms. Annette Harris (Literary Coordinator) and John Asberry, director of the Alpha Center Program work with students and their brothers and sisters who have gone through the behavior modification program.

These were students who had been disruptive in the academic classes and had been recommended to the Alpha leaders. They are capable students but need behavior modification and reinforcement of their behavior to enable them to concentrate on their studies.

The goals of these workshops are besides reinforcing their newly formed habits:

Ace beats Mace

Ace Automotive of Vero Beach beat local favorites Mace Sod, of Belle Glade in an exciting two-game playoff at the biggest Airport Park softball tournament ever, last weekend.

After losing to Mace in the first final match, Ace, under Coach Don Jarrett, won the second game, and the tournament.

Earlier in the tournament, Ace beat Mace, Accounting to Mike Woodward, City Recreation Coordinator. Ace won two of the three matches between them to get the victory.

Mace took second place honors, and West Palm Beach's V.M. Nutri took third.

Twenty-three teams took part in the tournament, ranging from Melbourne, to Hollywood.

Seminole Supply and Burger King donated trophies and All-Pro Sporting Goods provided jackets to the city at cost, for the winners.

-to provide students with opportunities for personal growth and awareness.

-to provide experiences to aid students in clarifying values.

-to provide opportunities to develop and enhance communication skills.

To carry out these goals, classes are divided into groups of ten students each with meet from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m.

These workshops are a follow-up of the students who have participated in the Alpha Program for the past two years. The cases of the students involved and their families are reviewed.

Through screening and evaluating the students pre-academic performances and their behavior patterns, the Alpha counselors will be able to determine the progress or lack of its of the students over the past months and make recommendations.

What does creative modern dance or coordinated rhythm and poetry have to do with teaching young people better students or preventing them from becoming school conductors?

Reaching the above mentioned goals through discipline reinforcement will make better students and less likely candidates for trouble. The students in "Effective Education" learn to feel good about themselves because they learn to perform complicated dance steps and routines as well as being able to recite poetry picked out by Ms. Harris.

The dancing, which is original choreography by Ms. Angram, demands coordinated use of hands, arms, feet, knees, shoulders and head to popular music and looks good at the same time.

Some of the routines involve hand clapping, finger snapping and singing which is hard to believe without seeing.

In addition to the Alpha Program students, others have joined the workshop because they had heard about what was going on. The summer activity is showing that there is a way to teach respect for authority and for self and have a good time without violation of the law.

Asberry said, "culminating the Effective Education Program will be an awards program to be held at the Lake Shore Civic Center on Saturday, Aug. 1. The awards program is sponsored by the Western Palm Beach County Mental Health Clinic to recognize all students, parents and consultants who have made the success of the program possible."

Bell-Aire upsets Miami Herald

Glades Women's softball action continued last week as Bell-Aire Helicopter posted its first win of the season with a big upset over previously undefeated Miami Herald at Belle Glade's Airport Park on Thursday evening, July 9.

Assisted by three base hits and a couple of unforced errors, Miami Herald scored four runs in the first inning for a 4-0 lead. It was a tight, defensive struggle with neither team scoring again until the sixth as Bell-Aire pushed two runs across the plate on a base hit by Suzy Hill.

The seventh inning was Miami Herald's undoing as Bell-Aire took advantage of four errors for four more runs to take the lead. The Herald's rally in the bottom of the seventh was squelched as Bell-Aire made a stunning double play, forcing a runner out at second base and then a shortstop-first base-catcher combination that caught the runner out at home. The tying runs were stranded at first and third when third baseman Joann Davis caught an infield fly for the last out. The final score was 6-4 Bell-Aire Helicopter.

In the eighth game of the evening, Everglades Federal's girls charged off a slow start and began to run and walk their way to a 15-7 victory over A. Duda & Sons. The game was called after five innings due to the hour and a half time limit. Duda's only threat came in the second inning when the runners scored four runs to trail by only one.

Everglades Federal put the game away in the fifth inning, adding six more runs for a total of 15. Sherry Mann was the leading hitter for Everglades Federal with three hits in four tries.

The other two games of the week were played on Tuesday, July 7, at Padgett Park. Bell-Aire Helicopter was forced to forfeit for the second time this year due to lack of players. As a result, Everglades Federal was awarded its third win against one loss.

Miami Herald's players trounced A. Duda & Sons 28-0 in the other game as nearly every batter on the team got at least one base hit. Duda could get only one runner past first base in the entire game.

The Women's League standings as of July 10 were: Miami Herald 4-1, Everglades Federal 4-1; A. Duda & Sons 1-4; Bell-Aire Helicopter 1-4.
